Previews of Coming Events

The 2010 Mid-Year meetings, with the Huguenot Society of Arizona serving as Host Society, are expected to be outstanding. The casual, relaxed Southwest environment will be echoed in the attitude and demeanor of the meetings and functions. Leave your "dress up" clothes at home; instead, resort casual will be the uniform of the day (and evening, too). Even the Friday night dinner will be more casual with sport shirts and slacks for the guys and sun dresses, casual skirt sets, capris, and the like for the ladies; however, a light wrap may be needed in the evenings.

Don't miss the Friday morning workshop to learn about the nationwide contests for youngsters and teens. All State Member Societies need to become involved in this special effort to bring awareness of their Huguenot Heritage to young people and get them involved in the Society at a young age.

Check articles elsewhere in this publication for some of the area attractions, and plan to arrive before the meetings and/or stay over after the meetings to take advantage of the opportunity to visit some of these attractions.

2011 will be the year of the 75th Annual Congress of the National Huguenot Society and its predecessor organization, The Federation of Huguenot Societies. Many special activities are being planned to mark this milestone in the history of the society.

The events will begin on Thursday, April 7, with a tour of one of the significant sites in Washington. Following the General Council meeting on Friday, there will be a luncheon away from the hotel at a special location; then, while the Board of General Officers meets, the other attendees will have the opportunity to explore that venue.

Extraordinary programs are being planned for both the Friday night banquet and the Saturday luncheon at the hotel. The traditional Memorial Service will be held, as will the Wreath Laying at one of the national memorials.

An optional dinner at a French restaurant may be arranged for Saturday evening for those staying over, and perhaps group attendance at either the French Protestant Church or the National Cathedral on Sunday.
